Roberts Mechanical Signs exclusive contract with Exhausto

January 1, 2005

The Roberts Mechanical Equipment Company is excited to announce that they have signed an exclusive representative agreement with Exhausto!

Exhausto is perhaps the most recognizable manufacturer in the world as they innovated, applied, and made 'chimney automation' a standard solution for economical venting challenges. In addition Exhausto offers a full line of accessory items, customizable control systems, and many other draft and combustion air control products! If you are struggling with combustion air or a vent problem, Exhausto not only has the solution, it has a detailed and presentable written solution for your review. They guarantee it!

When it comes to venting an appliance or boiler, Exhausto IS the expert and Roberts Mechanical Equipment Looks forward to being your local 'expert' in this area. With the addition of Exhausto, you can check back to the web site often as new literature, specifications, and other pertinent information regarding Exhausto will be posted.

In the meantime, contact Grant Roberts or Dennis Malkin directly for more information, catalogs, literature, and training. Roberts Mechanical Equipment will be covering both the Cleveland and Toledo territories previously covered by separate representatives. All of Northern Ohio from Indiana to PA should be contacting RME to discuss their venting needs.

RME is elated to start the New Year with such a quality manufacturer in its family, and also pleased to take one more step to providing their customers, contractors, and engineers a single source for ALL their mechanical room needs! In addition, RME represents all types of boilers, accessories, water heaters, storage tanks, vent material, feed systems, heat transfer products and so much more!
